

BOARD OF TRADE WINS ANNUAL GOLF CONTEST

Defeats Chamber of Commerce for Third Successive Time and Dines as Guests.

Score Stands 28 to 7 in Match at Columbia Country Club—Summary of Play.

As the sun drooped toward the horizon yesterday afternoon twenty-eight tired and happy golfers signed a long sigh of pleasure and turned toward the clubhouse of the Columbia Country Club where the Board of Trade men sat down to their third successive dinner at the expense of the Chamber of Commerce. The golf match was the third between the representatives of the two civic organizations. The exact score was: Board of Trade, 28; Chamber of Commerce, 7. Most of the matches were as tight as possible and several surprises disrupted the dogs in the camp of the Chamber of Commerce.

Brailley Gish, the mighty son of swat, was matched against A. B. Leet, and in justice to Gish it may be said that he expected a fairly easy victory, but he did not know that Leet is a former District titleholder and always one of the most formidable players of the Columbia Country Club. He showed Gish the way to play the game to the tune of 4-5, winning 2 points from his long-driving opponent. One of the feature battles of the day was the contest between Herbert T. Shannon of the chamber and Leroy W. Herron of the board. Again the loser thought he had been allotted an "easy one," and again was he a sadder but wiser man as he holed his last putt. Shannon remarked on the first tee that if he got over the branch of the creek on his drive his opponent was beaten, and he carried the creek all right, but Herron showed the stuff of which he was made and brought Shannon in 4 down and 3 to play, winning 2 points for the board. John Brawner defeated the veteran, John Davidson, by 3 and 1 in a match which was closely contested throughout, winning 3 points from the former Middle Atlantic champion.

Opponents Met by Others.

Ed Eynon, the District champion, found a worthy opponent on his hands in the person of Donald Woodward, but scoring an 81 to Woodward's 84 brought the representative of the chamber in, four down and two to play, winning two points for the board. Woodward saved a point for his side by running down a twenty-foot putt on the home green to score a par four and win the hole. Oliver P. Newman was forced to succumb to E. D. Rheem, by four down and two to play. The District Commissioners finding considerable trouble with his putts. Ormsby McCammon, the Chevy Chase veteran, was defeated by George P. James, who scored an 81, and won three points from the doughty McCammon. But the feature contest was that between the two captains, John F. Slaven of the Chamber of Commerce and John C. Walker of the Board of Trade. Both players felt that aside from the personal glory at stake they must contribute something to the winning total of their respective teams, and as a result waged fast and furious to the home green, where Walker won the hole and saved a point for the board. However, Slaven played better golf for the majority of the journey around the course and Walker was beaten by two and one. Both men were well up toward 100, but this was more than compensated by the closeness of the contest.

The cards of the captains follow:
Slaven..... 6 6 5 5 6 5 4 5-48
Walker..... 5 5 6 6 3 6 5 5 5-41-09
James..... 5 5 4 6 5 5 5 5-48
Rheem..... 5 5 7 4 6 5 6 6 5-49-07

Dine and Hear Speeches.

After the final result of the match was ascertained to the satisfaction of all but the chamber players, all retired to the clubhouse and sat down to the greatest of all delights after a hard day's golf—a good dinner and the best of company. Cy Cummings of Montgomery county, Md., entertained the diners with eulogies on the glories, past and present, of Montgomery county. President Edwin H. Etz, of the Board of Trade, proposed a standing toast to the gallant guardsmen of the District who rallied to the colors in the event of war, and this was enthusiastically responded to by all the banqueters. The hit of the evening was the poem recited by the captain of the golf team of the Columbia Country Club, George P. James, who, in his rendition of that popular classic, "The Charge of the Light Brigade," surprised his hearers with his eloquence. Commissioner Newman presented the Shaw and Brown trophy to the president of the board, E. C. Brandenburg, who accepted it at the same time beavelling the fact that his colleague and beaten friend, P. T. Moran, president of the chamber, was unable to be present at the festivities. Harry Cunningham, secretary of the Board of Trade, offered a medal to the man returning low score in next year's event, and the best of the evening came when Mr. Brandenburg, on behalf of C. M. King of Spalding, made the announcement that in order to perpetuate the series of contests the latter will present a cup next year to be played for under the same conditions as the previous matches.

SEEKING LOCATION FOR AN ELECTRIC FLAG

Governing Board, Retail Merchants, to Display American Colors as Incentive to Patriotism.

At a meeting of the board of governors of the Retail Merchants' Association, held Monday afternoon in the Star building, President R. P. Andrews reported that a special committee is at work trying to choose a spot in the downtown section of the city to place a large electric American flag which the association wishes to set up. In view of the present existing warlike conditions, Mr. Andrews believes that the installation of such a flag will arouse a great wave of patriotism in Washington, and that should volunteers be needed for service the sight of it, visible always night and day, will cause many to flock to the colors. The installation of the flag was originally meant to be an incentive to patriotism, but it now can serve a double purpose. The association wants to locate it where it can be seen by the most people, and the special committee is trying to pick out the "most important spot in Washington."

Opposition to Vault Rent.

Secretary Charles J. Columbus made a report for a special committee appointed to investigate a rider to the District bill which provides that a rental fee shall be charged on vaults. The association is unanimously opposed to the rider, holding that it would be unfair to the merchants in that it would make them really pay a double tax, and that it would also be inconvenient for the public, in view of the fact that the pavements in front of business houses would be used to a greater extent for temporary storage purposes. The committee consists of A. Lamer, George S. De Neale, Samuel Hart, Isaac Gans and Jacob Eisenmann.

Proposed Honor to Elks.

The board of governors adopted a resolution requesting business men of Washington to decorate their stores in purple and white in honor of the reunion of the Elks, who will meet in Baltimore from July 8 to July 15. It is expected that many thousands of Elks will visit Washington during the convention in Baltimore, and that about 8,000 will board here during that period. It is believed the convention will be of as great commercial benefit to Washington as to Baltimore. The board strongly favored the proposition that the Senate make the national flag the official flag of the House in the District appropriation bill for the erection of a stadium in Potomac Park.

MORE MEN FOR NAVY.

Bill Reported to House Provides Naval Militia Be "Federalized." The naval militia of the United States would be "federalized" under the terms of a bill reported to the House yesterday from the naval affairs committee. It authorizes the President to draft the naval militia of the states into the service of the United States Navy. This would increase the naval strength by about 9,000 officers and men, if the full naval militia should be taken over by the federal forces. The bill was written by Chairman Padgett of the naval affairs committee and will be taken up on the House floor as soon as possible. In addition to federalizing the naval militia it creates a corps to be known as the national naval volunteers. Militiamen who do not enroll in this organization would not be entitled to pay as volunteers. Many spiders have poison fangs, but few are dangerous to human beings.
